Dear Mr. Kette:

I am writing to notify you of some important information about a product recall that affects you. On Tuesday, June 23rd, Ryt-way was notified by its supplier of instant non-fat dry milk and the Food and Drug Administration that product supplied to us is being recalled due to potential Salmonella contamination. The potential for contamination was identified through environmental sampling at the supplier's manufacturing facility. Although Ryt-way is not the source of the contamination and no illnesses have been reported to date in connection with this situation, we are actively facilitating the recall process.

At this time, we request that affected customers hold any instant non-fat dry milk remaining in stock that was supplied by Ryt-way. Within the next week we will supply detailed information on SKUs and lot numbers affected and work with customers to determine disposition of affected product. The issue is isolated to one Ryt-way packaging line dedicated only to this dry milk product. Our other product-packaging and manufacturing lines are not affected.

Ryt-way is closely working with our product supplier, our customers and the FDA to help minimize the impact of the recall. That process involves inventory and distribution tracking, rapidly notifying customers and other affected parties of the recall, as well as working with other suppliers to help ensure availability of replacement instant non-fat dry milk product for our affected customers.

Please know that food safety is of utmost importance to Ryt-way. Our company is, as it always has been, focused on meeting the stringent food-safety demands of leading food-manufacturing companies, achieving the highest levels of food-safety certification and investing in and maintaining state-of-the-art packaging operations. Of course, we are also committed to providing additional details and progress updates on the recall as they become available.

In the meantime, should you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact Shelley Brady directly at 952-469-9511.

Sincerely,

David Finch
